Text 1

W: Excuse me, sir. Does this bus go to the museum?

M: Yes, you get off at the square. We will get there in about half an hour if the traffic isn't too heavy.

Text 2

W: I think we should buy some souvenirs to take home. On our way to the tower there are many shops selling all kinds of souvenirs.

M: OK. Let's head there.

Text 3

M: Just look at that line! It seems to stretch on for miles. I can't imagine waiting for another two hours.

W: Hey, the end of the line is over there.

M: Yeah ...

W: No, I'm serious. I was here first.

Text 4

M: Oh, Mia, I'll be graduating from college soon, but I have not found a job yet.

W: You can try posting your job-seeking information online.

Text 5

M: It looks like it's going to be sunny.

W: Yes, it's much better than yesterday. But they say we're going to get some rain later.

M: Oh, let's just hope it stays warm.

Text 6

M: What seems to be the problem at the moment?

W: Well, recently I've been feeling very poorly, such as getting very short of breath.

M: How long has this been going on?

W: For about 18 months, I think.

M: Was there anything that seemed to have caused this?

W: Well, nothing, really. Except it got really bad when I went up to London to see my sister.

M: Let's take a look.

Text 7

M: Excuse me. I have a connecting flight to Chicago at 5:00. Will I be able to make it?

W: Certainly. There will be a minibus waiting at the gate to take you to Terminal B. There shouldn't be any problems.

M: What about my luggage? I'm worried that my bags won't make the connection even if I do.

W: Don't worry. The minibus will take both you and your luggage. There are other passengers with similarly tight connections.

M: Thanks for your help.

Text 8

M: Good afternoon! Did you call for a plumber?

W: Yes, yes, I did. Please come in! I'm so glad you came! This old house is falling apart! Come on into the bathroom. See, here, there's water leaking everywhere!

M: Let me take a look. It seems your toilet is blocked, which is why it won't flush. I suspect there's a foreign object in the pipes causing the overflow. Plus, these water pipes are quite rusty and should be replaced to prevent future problems. I'd also recommend fixing the tap since it isn't shutting off properly. If it's urgent, I can have it all done today.

W: That would be great! How much is your estimate?

M: Let's see ... I would say about 800 dollars.

W: What? That's more than what I make in a day, and I'm a heart surgeon.

Text 9

M: What are you doing, Kei?

W: I need to take an English test this fall, so I'm looking for a language school. I've got some ads from this TESOL magazine.

M: Oh, yes? Anything good?

W: There's the Chelsea School of English. It's convenient, but the course I want is only held in the evenings and I'd like to enroll in a morning course instead. And then there is another one, Ed's Conversational School. But it seems too small, so it probably doesn't do exam courses. Also, it's south of Earl's Court. That's too far for me to go in the morning, especially now that it's getting dark and cold.

M: OK. Oh, this one looks really nice. Knightbridge English, and it's easy to get to.

W: Yes, I've heard of it, Andrew. But I think it's far too expensive for me, especially as I haven't got a part-time job yet.

M: Erm, OK. How about Oxford House English?

W: Erm. It's near Oxford Circus, so it's also easy to get to by subway and bus. They offer exam courses and they provide most courses at most times.

M: Why don't you give them a call and get more information?

W: Could you call them instead? I don't like talking on the phone.

M: No, you call them. It'd be good English practice. Here's the number.

Text 10

W: In the late 1600s, the British Empire began expanding across several continents. It eventually became the largest empire in history, controlling about a quarter of the world's land and human population. Throughout its centuries-long rule, the empire took precious resources and wealth from countries all around the world, including thousands of cultural and historical artifacts. Many of these artifacts found their way to the British Museum, which was established in 1753 and kept growing to accommodate its growing collection. While many items in the museum were legally acquired and are completely undisputed, like this one, a 2,000-year-old Roman vase sold to the museum by a duke in 1945, there are disputes surrounding certain other pieces. Like the first item you see as soon as you walk in. The Rosetta Stone, taken by British troops from the French in what is now Egypt. Or further in, the Parthenon Sculptures, removed from a castle in Athens by a British lord and sent to the British Museum. Or, over here, the Benin Bronzes, displayed in the museum's African Art section. These are some of the most debated items in the museum.
